about the government setting up an rcmp
horse to be killed today in a hit and run?
@ketelford is setting this up as we speak.

It sounds like a whistle blower from the PMS office has leaked information that Katie Telford herself has suggested in a meeting today, that an undercover officer already with the convoy, hit and injure a "RCMP or Ottawa City riot control horse" with a big truck and try to make it look like a hit & run and blame it on a protester. They want to have news cameras there so the horse being euthanized (due to its injuries), can be videoed in time for the evening news in the maritimes. According to the spin on the story, the horse is going to be named Fox and they will say it was originally named in honor of Terry Fox. The Officer Riding the horse (she will actually be leading it across a road) is actually a female officer in JT's own security detail and the last name they will use for her is Johnson. (Something about both names scoring better in a focus group). They wanted to say she was killed by a truck too, but figured that would take too much time to pull off. This is some evil crap and the only reason I was
